The Other Campus
Shaunita Levison

Explore

Question

The Other Campus?
Files:
other campus map.doc (Tue 04/10/2007 8:53)

Plan

How will you go about answering your inquiry

I plan to use the Illios I skimmed through from the University Archives to develop Lucia's character, because it was difficult to find women in Belvidere back in the 1915's-20's, so I used a close town near by with pictures of college aged and older women centered on the campus of the U of I. I also found a book that help to envision what the men may have looked like before as well as farm area as well. The book was from the Champaign County History Archives at the Free Urbana Library. The title is "Upon a Quiet Landscape: Photographs of Frank Sadorus." And last but not least our group wanted to focus on the house that the couple would live in so I found a remodeled house in Belvidere, that would be greatly described in detail in our chapter. This was very significant to us because Phil mentioned the house in the real story, but in our addition to the book we want to talk about how it turned out after he gave it the work it needed so that he and Lucia would be happy there.Here's the link:
http://www.wilderness-loghomes.com/html/belvidere.html

Observe

What observations, or findings are you encountering in your research?
I observed that our plan was to widespread, as our professor suggested we need to narrow down our serach and not try and cover too much. It was very difficult to find farm towns near Rockford back in 1913. But the choices I had come up with was: Sadorus, Winnebago County, Cedarville, or Dekalb. And our group did not use either one...dead in I know:^(! But we did decide to use Belvidere which is near Rockford also.

Reflect

Link

Here's the link to my Final Botox Paper:
Files:
Botox Paper.doc (Tue 05/01/2007 0:18)