

Room 252

The room is the place where AHP's official meeting is held every other Thursday. Whenever, I went there, the chairs were always in order, as if someone set it up for the meeting. I guess, one of the club members had cleaned it before the meeting started or one of janitors had cleaned it. The chairs in neat order always made me think the room is clean and new, although the room is actually old. Also, it made me think that AHP members like to put things in good order.

Curtain

Oddly, the curtain was always not in order; it was not fully raised and slanted to one side. AHP members might have not noticed it or have thought little of it. If the curtain was fully raised or shut down, I, probably, would have thought that AHP members really want the room to be in neat order.

Ceiling 1 &2

The ceiling of the room made me think that the room was older than it appeared. Some tiles of the ceilings were about to fall down and one tile had already fallen down. Some tiles looked yellow because water had leaked from upper floor.

Dan and Laura

There are the head of AHP and WIA. I was a little bit surprised by the fact that they seemed to be the only ones who were chubby. I don't want to make fun of their appearance but that was what I thought at the meeting. I even have thought that one of the requirements to be the head of aviation club is to be a little bit overweighted. I know that can never be true but what a coincidence!
