By CONSTANCE M. WINCHELL

Reference Books of 1952-1953

Miss Winchell is reference librarian, Columbia University Libraries.

Introduction

As in previous articles in this series, this survey is based on notes written by members of the reference staff of the Columbia University Libraries. There has been some experimentation as to the form of the listing which should take—the first two numbers of survey articles followed by alphabetical lists, the third was an annotated bibliography, the entries being given in much the same form as is used in the Guide to Reference Books, 7th ed. Some reference librarians have indicated a preference for this last as they believe it is easier to check and to use with the Guide. Therefore, this is the arrangement used.

Once again, as the purpose of the list is to present a selection of scholarly and foreign works of interest to university libraries, it is not necessarily well-balanced nor comprehensive. Code numbers (such as A16) have been used to refer to titles in the Guide.

Bibliography

1st ed., 1925; 2nd ed., 1931 (A16). This is the 3rd ed. completely revised, v.1, Science and technology; v.2, Social sciences, education, humanistic studies. List published bibliographies in book form and in periodicals. Arranged by the Universal Decimal Classification.

This is the second volume of this notable bibliographic manual, the first dealing with general bibliography was published in 1950 and noted previously. (College and Research Libraries 13:30, Jan. 1952). This second volume devoted to the humanities and the social sciences is not limited to bibliographies but includes dictionaries, encyclopedias, atlases, texts, periodicals, and other types of reference and source materials. There are also special sections on the language, literature and history of Slavic and Balkan countries and of the Near, Middle and Far East. A full index by author, subject and title completes the volume.

Volume three is to cover the natural sciences and medicines.

Periodicals

This is an expansion of his earlier "Short-title catalogue of English corantos and newsbooks, 1640-1642" which appeared in The Library in June 1938. Its aim is to "list and describe all corantos and newsbooks of foreign news in the English language printed during the period 1620-1642".

Detailed bibliographical descriptions are given with reference to sources and locations of copies. The corantos are arranged in chronological order under places of printing; the newsbooks are listed in chronological order in their series. Introductions to sections and notes give changes of publisher, mode of printing, size, typographical features, identification of printers, variant copies, etc. There is no index.

JULY, 1953 259
Articles in about 275 journals, annuals, and society publications are listed in this new Turkish index, which is arranged by subject with an author index. All titles are given in both Turkish and French, and very brief annotations are added for some entries; book reviews are included. Annual indexes by author and subject are planned. Of particular interest is the intention of the Institute to make available microfilms, translations, or abstracts of all articles included.

Religion

A key to the Latin writings of the church fathers that have appeared in collections and periodicals. There are three indexes: 1, Index nominum et operum; 2, Index systematicus; 3, Initia.

v.1 covers Genesis, 1:1-6:8.

A monumental collection of Jewish interpretations of the Bible. Includes an anthology of passages drawn from the Talmudic-Midrashic literature pertaining to each verse of the Bible, with indication of sources; a commentary containing exegetical passages from ancient and modern sources, and an appendix containing four essays: Concept of time in Biblical and post-Biblical literature; The atom in Jewish sources; Creation and the theory of evolution; Creation and human brotherhood.

Social Sciences

This new quarterly journal will present in some issues classified bibliographies of sociological publications and in others articles in the field of sociology. In this first issue the bibliography includes publications, both books and periodical articles, that appeared between January and June 1951. The scope is international and sociology is used in its widest sense. However, an attempt is made to avoid overlapping with other indexes in this field, such as the Population Index and Psychological Abstracts. A list of the periodicals used, and author and subject indexes, are included.

Handworterbuch der Sozialwissenschaften.
Stuttgart, G. Fischer [1952- ] Fasc.1-
This new edition of the Handworterbuch der Staatswissenschaften (4th ed. 1923-29) (L229) is now being published in fascicles, which will start at three different points of the alphabet, A, H and Re. The first part to appear covers Handelsrecht to Hume, David. Articles are signed and include bibliographies which give author, title, place and date of publication. There are some statistical tables and a few footnotes. Inside the front and back covers is the table of contents (in alphabetical order) giving the subject headings which appear in this or in other parts. When the set (6v.) is completed in 1955, an extra volume is planned to contain the overall table of contents, a list of all the writers, and a list of all the references cited.

A new annual in four main parts: (1) An introductory section covering the reigning royal families of the world and information on various international organizations; (2) the states of the world, giving, for about 95 countries, constitution and government, area and population, financial and banking system, industry and commerce, communications, education, religion, etc.; (3) a diplomatic section listing the names and addresses of ambassadors and ministers of each country; (4) a biographical section giving brief biographical sketches of some 8,000 persons including statesmen and politicians, ambassadors, heads of government departments, military chiefs, great ecclesiastics and eminent lawyers, heads of the greater industries and leading bankers and merchants.

Contains listings from 30 member states, and from Germany, which was not a member at the time of the survey. Titles have been translated when necessary into French or English. Listings are under broad subject, and then alphabetical by the French version of a country's name. There is an index to authors and an index to the broad subjects used.

Business
An attempt to provide standard definitions for terms connected with personnel management; 8,624 sources from 1945 to date were searched, and a list was made of those terms on which at least five sources agreed. This list was considered by a group of experts and only those terms on which they agreed were included in the dictionary.

Covers terms in the many fields of business activity. Designed to provide an understanding of business operations, methods and practices, and a warning of possible legal difficulties concerning terminology.

Education
Bibliography, p.754-838.
Gives detailed information on the educational system of each country, with indications of equivalent evaluation in the U.S.

"The ideal entry for each state comprises a short descriptive passage, bibliography, diagram, classification of school types and set of statistical tables." Pref. Compiled mainly from replies to questionnaires or, where these were not returned, from official printed statistics. Fifty-seven countries are covered. A useful glossary of terms gives English equivalents for foreign types of educational institutions, in five groups (pre-school, primary school, etc.).

Arranged alphabetically, with many cross-references from individual fellowships, prizes, etc. to the field of interest concerned. Gives names and addresses of administrative agencies, funds available, eligibility requirements, closing dates for application, etc.

Linguistics

This is an index to some 80,000 articles or studies on individual Spanish words, listed alphabetically by the words. The references are to periodicals, books, and scholarly collections in various languages, excluding Spanish or Latin-American dictionaries and general etymological glossaries, and complete linguistic studies of individual authors. Latin-American and dialect words are included, and some Portuguese words which are closely related to the Spanish.

Dictionaries

This important new dictionary, a research project of the University of Michigan, is based on a vast collection of Middle English quotations, which includes all those assembled for the Oxford English Dictionary, both published and unpublished, in addition to hundreds of thousands gathered for this work. It is to be completed in ten years, in parts of 124 pages each, the whole to consist of about 8,000 pages. The bibliography and a full description of the editing plan are to appear as a separate part in 1953. The first letter to be published is E, of which parts 1-2 (E- escheu) have so far been received; F, D, C, B and A will follow, in that order, and then G-Z in alphabetical sequence.

Originally published in parts from 1939-1949. The sections cover (1) Sauces; (2) Vegetables; (3) Cereals; (4) Fruit; (5) Fish; (6) Meat; (7) Birds and Eggs; (8) Cheese; (9) Wine.

Includes definitions of terms and ingredients as well as recipes.

Architecture and Decoration

"Prepared under the auspices of the School of Architecture of Columbia University."

v.1, The elements of building; v.2, The principles of composition; v.3-4, Building types.

An extremely important work, which largely supersedes Gaudet’s Eléments et théorie de l'architecture (1902). Many specialists collaborated on it, and each building type is dealt with by an outstanding architect. Although there is no general bibliography, each chapter has a list of suggested additional readings; there is a general index, and also one of architectural works described or illustrated.

Music

First ed., 1948 (Q246)

Includes sketches of 2,171 writers of lyrics and composers, 1,400 of whom are writers of popular music, and 402 publishers of music. Arrangement as in 1st ed.

An index to material on the history of music appearing in some 40 periodicals. Arrangement is by broad period divisions, further subdivided under such headings as General Studies, Composers, and the various musical forms. Indexes by authors and composers. The material was collected in card-index form by the compiler over about twenty-five years, but the periodicals covered are not confined to that period.

Literature

An entirely revised edition of this standard work. For earlier edition and annotation see R38. Articles have been rewritten, many shortened or omitted. New articles have been added including terms used in World War II. Both editions will be needed, as much useful material in the older edition has been dropped from the new.

Granger’s Index to Poetry. 4th ed., completely rev. and enl., indexing anthologies

Brief but clear definitions and descriptions, with many line-drawings. Preliminary sections cover (1) description and (2) design of furniture, and the dictionary is followed by lists of British and American furniture makers and designers and British clockmakers; bibliography; tabulated periods, types of furniture, materials and craftsmen from 1100 to 1950. Emphasis mainly British.

JULY, 1953
A completely revised edition of the standard work (for 3rd ed. and supplement see R159). This edition indexes 577 volumes of anthologies; of these 312 also appeared in the 3rd edition, 86 in the Supplement, and 179 are completely new.

Changes made in this edition include (1) the combining of the separate Title Index and First Line Index into one Title and First Line Index; (2) the dropping of prose selections, accounting for the disappearance of “and Recitations” from the titles; and (3) addition of a Subject Index.

The book is divided into three parts; (1) Title and first line index; (2) Author index; (3) Subject index.

A very useful addition to the reference shelf; earlier editions should be kept for the indexing of anthologies omitted from this edition.

Includes some 20,000 quotations in Dutch, many of them translations from other languages, for which the original is usually given. Sources include ancient and modern literatures, proverbs, maxims, etc. Arranged by topic with some cross-references. No word index.

v.1-8, A Virgilio.

A bibliography listing Spanish editions of the Latin classics including: manuscripts, editions, commentaries, translations, critical works, imitations, and works showing the influence of Latin classics on Spanish literature. Sections are somewhat unequal in treatment reflecting the special interest of the compiler; some authors, e.g. Horace, Cicero, Virgil are treated at great length. Comments, extracts, etc. are given throughout. Actual bibliographical information is not always complete.

Contents: Bd. 1, Das literarische Gesamtbild; Bd. 2, Entschlüsselung deutscher Romane und Dramen.

A key to the identities of real characters and events treated in literature under fictitious names. Not all-inclusive but treats the significant works of many literatures. The first volume gives general explanations and definitions, history and discussion with indexes of authors and prototypes, the second volume is devoted to German fiction and drama and the third will deal with non-German literature.

Geography

List all place-names in the county of Aberdeen which were in use before 1850, current and obsolete. Local pronunciation is given.

A list of approved place-names showing for each correct spelling, indication of province and whether the place has a railway station, motor-bus halt, post-office, etc.

History

*Diccionario de historia de España desde sus orígenes hasta el fin del reinado de Al-

Compiled under the auspices of the Committee on Near Eastern Studies of the American Council of Learned Societies.

Includes survey articles on the geography, population and language, social evolution, history, administration, economic structure, religion, intellectual development, literature and arts. These are followed by a Chronology, p. 110-161, and a Bibliography, p.162-235.

Lists 1719 western-language books, and the more important periodicals, with very brief annotations. Includes titles published through Summer 1951. Selection was made by a group of scholars and the list is intended primarily for the use of colleges and libraries.

A comprehensive history and discussion of historical writing among the Moslem peoples.

To be complete in about 45 signatures (8-9 to a Lfg.): parts to appear to 2-monthly intervals. Will include some 2,000 individual biographies, in all fields and from Roman times up to 1933, mainly of Germans but also of some foreigners important in the history of Germany. Brief bibliographical notes.

p. ix-xix, index by period; p. xx-xxxii, index by field or profession (subdivided by period); p. xxxii-xlvi, index by region (subdivided by period).
