SUBJECT GUIDE
and
BOOKS IN PRINT

Here's the new 1963 Books In Print — the first place to look when you're looking for a book. It lists over 164,000 books from over 1400 publishers—hardbounds, paperbacks, trade and textbooks in separate author and title indices. You'll get price, publisher, author, title, series, edition, and other pertinent information — including forthcoming titles.

Subject Guide is the complement to Books In Print, listing all the books found in "BIP" that can be classified according to the Library of Congress subject headings. When you've forgotten a title or an author's name, or when you want a handy reminder of books available in certain areas, Subject Guide is the place to look. Complete ordering information as in "BIP."

Together, these two volumes offer you a unique, specific listing of the current books available from just about every U.S. publisher. Reserve your copies today — they will be sent to you upon publication.

WE ARE PLEASED to announce the publication of this important Dictionary Catalog. The library at Los Angeles has sent us the following description:

The UCLA Library comprises a general research library which serves programs of teaching and research in the University through a main library facility and several special libraries on the campus. The card catalog in the main Library building lists the book holdings of all the units of the general University Library on the campus in Westwood and of the William Andrews Clark Memorial Library in Los Angeles.

The Library maintains collections of materials to serve interdisciplinary institutes of research and teaching in African Studies, Folklore, International Relations, Latin American Studies, and Near Eastern Studies. There are also significant holdings in the history of science, folklore, Scandinavian language and literature, Medieval and Renaissance studies, and British Commonwealth studies. The Library has assumed responsibility, under the provisions of the Farmington Plan, for the collection of materials on the history of Australia and New Zealand and on Portuguese literature.

The Library's Department of Special Collections has noteworthy holdings on Spinoza, California history, Victorian fiction, children's books, and collections of modern authors such as Henry Miller, Lawrence Durrell, H. Rider Haggard, and others.

The Clark Library has important collections in English literature, history, religion, and science of the seventeenth, eighteenth, and nineteenth centuries, including particularly noteworthy collections of John Dryden, Robert Boyle, and Oscar Wilde. The Library also has a collection of materials by Eric Gill and other modern graphic artists, and maintains a collection of the work of fine printers in California and the Southwest.

The 2,700,000 cards in this Catalog have been reproduced by offset on Permalife Paper with 21 cards per 10" x 14" page. There are 129 volumes, averaging 1,000 pages each, bound in Class A Library Binding.

This is a limited edition and it is strongly suggested that you place your order as soon as possible to assure availability.

India Office Library

COMMONWEALTH RELATIONS OFFICE

Constituting a bibliographic guide to every major aspect of the history and culture of the Indian subcontinent and contiguous territories of related culture, this Catalogue represents the 90,000 volumes in the India Office Library in English and other European languages. Collected over a period of 160 years, the material in this library includes many Indian and British official publications. All accessions are entered by author, and a subject approach is provided for material acquired after 1936. Included in this publication is a separate Catalogue of Post-1937 European Manuscript Accessions which covers the private papers of many former Secretaries of State for India in Council, Viceroy and Governors-General of India, Governors of Indian Provinces, and prominent Indian civilians. Many of these documents are not to be found in the official records.
