The Society of Mining Engineers, AIME calls your attention to the following publications:

New Quarterly Journal
Mining TRANSACTIONS

Contains all of the Society's approved technical literature in the field of geophysics, geology, mining, and beneficiation of metallic, nonmetallic minerals and coal. The journal is issued in March, June, September and December (with index). The scope of the journal is all inclusive of the science and engineering of finding, mining, and processing minerals.

These same TRANSACTIONS may be obtained as a single volume bound in hard cover, but not until March of the year following release in the quarterly journal.

112 pages each issue

Subscription price $15.00

A New Reference Book
FROTH FLOTATION—50th Anniversary Volume

This original work, released in December 1962, is an unusually complete study of all phases of the theory and practice of froth flotation. This mineral recovery process encompasses the largest variety of minerals of any beneficiation process. Each of the 22 chapters are written by one or more authors selected for their special knowledge of the chapter subject. Contents also cover history, economics, costs, location and tabular analyses of minerals treated and reagents consumed.

Illustrated, 677 pp., index.

Purchase price $14.00

A Reference Standby
Industrial Minerals and Rocks
Third Edition, 1960

For the field of industrial minerals (nonmetallics) this reference volume takes a technical encyclopedic approach. Each of the 55 chapters is authored by a specialist. World wide location, geology, mining and processing, marketing and uses are described for each material.

Illustrated, 936 pp., index.

Purchase price $12.00
