WALTER C. ALLEN

THE LITERATURE ON LIBRARY architecture and building is vast, scattered, and repetitive. The following items represent only a selection of the more recent and more useful general books and articles. Pieces on individual libraries have generally been omitted, with the exception of a few notable critiques; others can be found through Library Literature, Art Index, etc. The December 1 issue of Library Journal each year has many articles on new buildings and statistical information on recent buildings. Examination of the bibliographies listed below and citations in articles and books will uncover further sources for reports and readings on special topics. Categories included in this bibliography are:

Bibliography	School Libraries
History and Background	Special Libraries
General	Site Selection
The Planning Team	Interior Planning, Furniture, and Equipment
The Building Program	Maintenance
Alternatives to a New Building	Security
Academic Libraries	Moving
Public Libraries
