

---

About the Contributors

---

NANCY S. ALLEN is head librarian, William Morris Hunt Memorial Library, Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, Massachusetts. She has published "Bibliographic Systems and their Object Catalog System Counterparts." In Procedural Guide to Automating an Art Library, edited by Barnett and Lucker. Tucson, AZ: ARLIS, 1987, and "The History of Western Language Sources for the Study of Japanese Art." Art Libraries Journal 11(4).

PATRICIA J. BARNETT is museum librarian for systems, Metropolitan Museum of Art, Thomas J. Watson Library, New York. She has published "The Art and Architecture Thesaurus as a Faceted MARC Format." Visual Resources 4 (Autumn 1987); and "Linked Authorities: Authority Control in Art Library and Information Systems." In Procedural Guide to Automating an Art Library, coedited with Amy Lucker. Tucson, AZ: ARLIS, 1987. She is project coordinator for the Art Museum Library Consortium and director of the Clearinghouse on Art Documentation and Computerization of ARLIS/NA.

DAVID BEARMAN is consultant, Archives and Museum Informatics, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He served as deputy director of the Office of Information Resource Management at the Smithsonian Institution, director of the National Information Systems Task Force of the Society of American Archivists, and director of the Survey of Sources of the American Philosophical Society and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

JAMES M. BOWER is technical information specialist, Vocabulary Coordination Group, Getty Art History Information Program, Santa Monica, California. He has published "Survey Completed of RLG/RLIN Visual Resources Cataloging." RLG Operations Update 46 (March 1988), and presented a paper "One-Stop Shopping: Access to Visual and Archival Materials—Use of the VM and AMC MARC Formats" at the Art Libraries Society of North America Annual Conference, Dallas, 5 February 1988.

RICHARD BRILLIANT is professor of art history and archaeology, Columbia University, New York, New York. He is also a member of the editorial board of Art Bulletin.

ANGELA GIRAL is Avery Librarian, Avery Architectural and Fine Arts Library, Columbia University, New York, New York. Publications and papers include "Architectural Drawings: A Visual Database." Scholarly Information Center Journal (Spring 1988); "Computerizing Collections Management Information: Would Standards Help," presented at the annual meeting of American Association of Museums, San Francisco (10 June 1987); and "Special Problems of Cataloging Architectural Drawings and Photographs," presented at meeting of the International Council of Architectural Museums, Wrocaw, Poland (23 June 1987).

KAREN MARKEY is assistant professor, School of Information and Library Studies, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. Publications include Subject Access to Visual Resources Collections: A Model for Computer Construction of Thematic Catalogs. New York: Greenwood Press, 1986.

PATRICIA ANN REED is data coordinator, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C. Prior to 1985 she was a programmer and systems designer in a variety of museum disciplines. Since 1985 she has worked with users responsible for collections data to logically define, analyze, and model data in the context of a structured methodology for building an information architecture to solve data problems.

DAVID W. SCOTT is planning consultant, National Museum of American History, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C. He is the author of "Museums." Encyclopedia of Architecture and Engineering, forthcoming from John Wiley & Sons.

JANE SLEDGE is collections information system administrator, Office of Information Resource Management, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C. She worked for the Canadian Heritage Information Network to develop and support a network of Canadian museums using computers to share and manage museum collections information. She now coordinates activities concerned with the Smithsonian's Collections Information System Steering Committee and the development of the Collections Information System.

DEIRDRE C. STAM is assistant professor, School of Information Studies, Syracuse University, Syracuse, New York. She has published in Art Documentation, Visual Resources, and Museum News. She combines a background in museum work with art librarianship and with teaching in the areas of art librarianship and information science.

JAN FLORIS VAN DER WATEREN is keeper and chief librarian, National Art Library, Victoria and Albert Museum, London, England. He is former director of the British Architectural Library and member of the Architectural Drawings Advisory Group at the Center for the Advanced Study of the Visual Arts in Washington, D.C.