
About the Contributors

PAMELA Q.J. ANDRE is chief of the Information Systems Division at the National Agriculture Library in Baltimore, Maryland. She has published "National Agricultural Text Digitalizing Project," in Library Hi Tech, Pierian Press, (Summer 1988); "Agricultural Information: A Comparison of Information Delivery Alternatives," co-authored in Microcomputers for Information Management, Ablex Publishing Co., (June 1988); and "Laser II: Data Preparation for Developing a Digital Videodisc," forthcoming in Electronic Publishing Business.

STEVEN ALLAN BROWN is document delivery librarian at the University of Georgia, Science Library in Athens, Georgia, a regional coordinator of the USDA Regional Document Delivery System, and past coordinator of the National Agricultural Library Telefacsimile Evaluation Project. His publications and presentations include the Final Report of the National Agricultural Library Telefacsimile Evaluation Project (Beltsville: National Agricultural Library, 1986); and "The USDA-NAL Telefacsimile Study," at the FIFL/Landgrant Librarians Conference, Washington, DC, November, 1986.

LORETTA CAREN is head of reference, Wallace Memorial Library, Rochester Institute of Technology in New York. She received an MA in biology from Colgate University, Hamilton, New York and an MLS from the State University of New York in Geneseo; she is also a certified secondary school science teacher.

JOAN GIGLIERANO is a candidate for an MLS degree at Indiana University School of Library and Information Science in Bloomington, Indiana.

F.W. LANCASTER is professor of library and information science at the University of Illinois in Urbana-Champaign and editor of Library Trends.

SUSAN K. MARTIN is executive director of the National Commission on Libraries and Information Science in Washington, DC and past director of the Milton S. Eisenhower Library at Johns Hopkins University. She has published Library Networks, 1986-1987 in addition to numerous articles in professional journals.

BETH M. PASKOFF is a faculty member, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, and a doctoral candidate, Florida State University, School of Library and Information Studies. She has published "Recruitment for Special Librarianship," in Librarians for the New Millenium (Chicago: ALA); "Finding the Future: Recruiting and Retaining SLA Student Members," in Special Libraries, vol. 79, 1988; "Health Sciences," in The Selection of Library Material: Guide to Sources and Strategies (Chicago: ALA, 1987); and "Networking and Special Libraries," in Proceedings of the 12th Annual Conference of the International Association of Marine Science Libraries and Information Center (Woods Hole, MA: the Association, forthcoming).

WILLIAM SAFFADY is a faculty member in the School of Information Science and Policy, State University of New York at Albany where he instructs in various aspects of information management including library automation. He is the author of eighteen books and numerous articles dealing with library automation, information processing technology, records management, and office automation. He also serves as an information management consultant to various businesses and government agencies.

DANNY P. WALLACE is associate professor of library and information science at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge. He received his doctorate from the University of Illinois, and has received the 1988 ALA/LRRT Jesse Hauk Shera Award for Research and the 1986 ALISE Doctoral Students' Dissertation Award. His most recent publication is "Estimating Effective Display Size in Online Retrieval Systems," coauthored with Bert R. Boyce and Donald H. Kraft in Information Processing and Management 24 (1988):331-337.

BECKI WHITAKER is an information retrieval specialist at INCOLSA, the Indiana Cooperative Library Services Authority in Indianapolis, and manager of the INCOLSA information retrieval program. She has over 15 years experience with online information retrieval systems and with conducting library education and online searching courses.

This Page Intentionally Left Blank

This Page Intentionally Left Blank

This Page Intentionally Left Blank

This Page Intentionally Left Blank