
About the Contributors

NANCY E. BRODIE is the Assistant Director of reference in the Public Services Branch of the National Library of Canada in Ottawa, Ontario. She also served as the Manager of User Support for Information Technology Services at the National Library of Canada. Her articles have been published in the Serials Librarian, JASIS, and the Canadian Library Journal.

KEITH M. COTTAM is Director of Libraries, The University of Wyoming in Laramie. He has a masters in library science from the Pratt Institute (1963). His work on "intrapreneurism" has been published in the Journal of Library Administration and he has presented workshops on his findings including one held at the Medical Library Association Conference in Wichita, Kansas in 1987.

ANN DE KLERK is presently Director of Library Services, Bertrand Library at Bucknell University in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania. She was previously Associate Director of University Libraries at Carnegie Mellon University. She has published in Special Libraries, Library Resources & Technical Services, and in the Proceedings of ASIS. Her affiliations include membership in ASIS in which she serves on the special interest group on library automation and networks.

LINDA S. DOBB is Head of the Cataloging Department, Robert E. Kennedy Library, California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo, California. She is a member of the LAMA Small Library Publications Committee, the California Library Association Membership Committee, RTSD, and LITA.

PAUL F. DUMONT is currently Assistant Professor of Administrative Sciences at the Graduate School of Management, Kent State University, Kent, Ohio. He received his doctorate in business administration from the University of Kentucky and his primary interests are in organizational effectiveness and related issues. Previously published articles include "Goal Setting, Need for Achievement and the Hard-Impossible Threshold" in Productivity Management Frontiers I (Amsterdam: Elsevier, 1987).

ROSEMARY RUHIG DUMONT is Dean and Professor at the School of Library Science, Kent State University in Kent, Ohio. She was guest issue editor for the Fall 1985 issue of Library Trends on "Women and Leadership in the Library Profession." More recent papers on management issues include: Productivity Management Frontiers I (Amsterdam: Elsevier, 1987) (on goals and achievement) and an article in Internationalizing Library Education on library administration courses (Westport, CT: Greenwood, 1987).

MARK M. ENGLAND is an Engineering Librarian at the Harold B. Lee Library at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah. He has a bachelors degree in engineering from the University of Minnesota and his masters in library science from Brigham Young University.

JOANNE R. EUSTER is currently a University Librarian at Rutgers University Libraries, New Brunswick, New Jersey. She received her doctorate in library and information studies from the University of California. She was the ACRL President from 1987 to 1988. Her publishing credits include her book The Academic Library Director, Management Activities and Effectiveness (Westport, CT: Greenwood, 1984).

BONNIE GRATCH is currently Head of Reference Services, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio. She is a member of RASD's Committee on Evaluation of Reference Services and a member of the C&RL News editorial board. She also wrote "Computer-Assisted Instruction—An Unfulfilled Promise" which appeared in Wilson Library Bulletin (Winter 1988).

DOROTHY E. JONES is General Reference Librarian in the General Reference Department, University Libraries, Northern Illinois University in DeKalb. She was a support staff library teaching assistant at Northern before assuming her present position. She has authored articles on personnel, collections, and exhibits for several prestigious journals.

JANICE KIRKLAND is currently Coordinator of Bibliographic Control at California State University, Bakersfield. She is planning an online catalog for the library there. She is a member of ACRL, the CSU chapter of the California Library Association, the ALA Pay Equity Committee, and the bibliography subcommittee of ALA on the Status of Women in Librarianship.

F. W. LANCASTER is professor of library and information science at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign and editor of Library Trends.

LYNN L. MAGRATH is a Consultant on library buildings and management and was former Deputy Director of the Pikes Peak Library District. She has given talks on "The Impact of Technology on Management Training" (1988 ALA Conference in New Orleans) and on "Managing an On-Line Integrated Information System (1987 ALA Conference in San Francisco). Her published articles include "Computers in the Library-Human Element" in Information Technology and Libraries (September 1982).

MAURICE P. MARCHANT is currently Professor of Library and Information Sciences at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah. He has a doctorate from the University of Michigan. His affiliations include Former Chair of the ALA Research Round Table. He is the author of Participative Management in Academic Libraries (Westport, CT: Greenwood Press, 1977).

WILLIAM MILLER is Director of Libraries, Florida Atlantic University in Boca Raton, Florida. He is former chair of ACRL's Bibliographic Instruction Section and its Choice Editorial Board. His publications include "What's Wrong with Reference" in American Libraries (May 1984) and "Library Management and Automation...." in Library Hi Tech (issue 25).

JOHN N. OLSGAARD is the Assistant Dean at the College of Library and Information Science, University of South Carolina, Columbia. He received his doctorate in library and information science from the University of Illinois. He has published on the topics of academic librarianship, management, and information science in College & Research Libraries, Journal of the American Society for Information Science, Information Technology and Libraries, Library Journal, Journal of Library Administration, and Journal of Education for Library and Information Science.

MEG SCHARF is presently an Assistant Librarian in the Reference Department, University of Central Florida library in Orlando. She has a masters degree in business administration and in library science. She has coauthored several papers presented at conferences including "A Library Research Application of Focus Group Interviews" (1986 ACRL National Conference), "The Future is Now—The Online Catalog" (1986 ALA conference), and "Fees, Friends, and Fund-Raising" (1986 ACRL Florida Chapter Fall conference).

JEANNETTE A. WARD is Associate Professor and Department Head, University of Central Florida—Libraries, Orlando. She also was a Project Manager for a CLSI installation at Rider College, Lawrenceville, New Jersey, and a former member of the Florida Center for Library Automation Technical Services Committee.