
About the Contributors

JAMES E. BIRD is presently Reference Librarian, Life Sciences and Agriculture Department, McKeldin Library, University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland. Mr. Bird has an M.S.L.S. from Simmons College, Boston, Massachusetts. He is a member of the International Association of Marine Science Libraries and the Society for Marine Mammology. He is also active in bibliographic instruction for agriculture/life sciences courses.

CAROL J. DITZLER is Head of the Lending Branch at the National Agricultural Library, Beltsville, Maryland. She manages document delivery and borrowing services, collection access and maintenance, and a translations program.

NELDA J. ELDER is Associate Professor and Chair, Collection Development at Farrell Library, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas. She received her M.L.S. from Emporia State University, Emporia, Kansas and is Chair, Kansas Regents' Institutions Collection Development Officers, 1988/89.

RITA C. FISHER is Reference Librarian and Agricultural Specialist, Owen Science and Engineering Library, Washington State University, Pullman, Washington. She has an M.L.S. from the University of California, Berkeley and is a member of the Special Libraries Association. She has co-edited Agricultural Information Resource Centers-A World Directory (in press).

BEVERLEE A. FRENCH is Assistant University Librarian for the Sciences, University of California, Davis. She has held several positions in biomedical and physical sciences libraries at the University of California, San Diego and was a Council on Library Resources Academic Library Management Intern at the University of Connecticut, Storrs, Connecticut.

ELEANOR FRIERSON is presently Information Technology Officer, CGIAR Secretariat, the World Bank in Washington, D.C. Ms. Frierson has a B.A. from Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio and an M.L.S. from Syracuse University, Syracuse, New York.

SUSAN C. HARRIS is Director, Ruben Salazar Library, Sonoma State University, Rohnert Park, California. Ms. Harris has published extensively in the areas of agricultural librarianship, technology, research, and issues related to agriculture in developing countries. Her professional activities include President of the Board of Directors, North Bay Cooperative Library System, 1989-90; Executive Committee Member, IAALD; member of SLA, Science and Technology Libraries Division; and in 1987 was international representative for the AGRIS Information System, Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations to name a few.

BRICE G. HOBROCK is Dean of Libraries, Farrell Library, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas. He has an M.L.S. from the University of Denver, Denver, Colorado. Mr. Hobrock's research interests include strategic planning for libraries, agricultural library development in Third World countries, and applications of technology in large academic libraries.

DOUGLAS E. JONES is Assistant Head and Coordinator for Collection Development, Science-Engineering Library, University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona. Mr. Jones is a member of IAALD, USAIN, and RASD Collection Development and Evaluation Section (CODES). He is currently on sabbatical working on an NAL project related to global climate change. He has co-edited Research Guide to the Arid Lands of the World (Phoenix, AZ: Oryx Press, 1983).

JAN KENNEDY-OLSEN is Director, Albert R. Mann Library, Cornell University, Ithaca, New York. She has an M.S.L.S. from the University of Wisconsin, an M.E. from Cornell University, and Ph.D. in philosophy, administration in higher education from Cornell University (in August 1990). She has made several presentations at national and international conferences. Recent publications include "Cornell University, Mann Library" in Campus Strategies for Libraries and Electronic Information (Rockport, MA: Digital Press, 1990) and "The Use of Journals by Scholars: Implications for Designing an Interface to the Electronic Journal" in Annual Review of OCLC Research, July 1988-June 1989.

MICHAEL P. KINCH is Head, Reference Services Division, Kerr Library, Oregon State University, Corvallis, Oregon. He was Agriculture and Forestry Librarian at Oregon State for fifteen years. He has published in publications such as Reference Services Review, BioScience, Journal of Forestry, Serials Review, Journal of the History of Biology, and Biology Education. He is current editor of Journal of Agricultural and Food Information (Haworth Press).

VERONICA LEFEBVRE is the Outreach Librarian for the Lending Branch, National Agricultural Library. She is also the coordinator of the Regional Document Delivery System, a network of thirty-eight land-grant university library participants which provides document delivery to USDA staff throughout the United States.

GEORG N. LINDSEY is managing director of CGNET Services International in Palo Alto, California. CGNET was an early CD-ROM publisher with the "CIMMYT Maize Germplasm Query System" in 1987, and is working on several new titles in the area of crop genetic information. He has worked for Bell Northern Research and Northern Telecom, was Director of Research for the PBS series "Over Easy," and was head of media planning for the Stanford Heart Disease Prevention Program.

DEBORA L. MADSEN is Associate Professor and Chair of the Acquisitions Department, Farrell Library, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas. Ms. Madsen has an M.L.S. from the University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona.

BETH M. PASKOFF is Assistant Professor, School of Library and Information Science, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Before joining the SLIS faculty, she was science bibliographer in LSU's Middleton Library and was responsible for collection development in agriculture. Ms. Paskoff is active in SLA and is serving on its Board of Directors. She has published several articles on special librarianship, library networks, and resources in the sciences.

MARIA G. PISA is Assistant Director for Policy and Planning, National Agricultural Library, Beltsville, Maryland. She was Assistant to the Chief of the Public Services Division of NAL and Acting Head of its Reference and User Services Branch. She was co-developer of NAL's electronic bulletin board system, ALF (Agricultural Library Forum). Ms. Pisa was Leader, Special Services and Communications, Education and Information Staff, NAL (1984-87) where she served as editor of the library's newsletter, Agricultural Libraries Information Notes as well as a variety of other publications. She received her M.L.S. from Catholic University.

KEITH RUSSELL is Associate Director for Public Services, National Agricultural Library, Beltsville, Maryland. He has authored and edited several publications and research reports on library cost studies, personnel management, subject access, technology applications, and planning. Mr. Russell is a current member of LITA's legislation and regulation committee and has served on several ACRL and LAMA committees. He has an M.S. degree in both library science and botany from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

JESSIE C. SMITH is Director of Library Services, University of Maryland Eastern Shore, Frederick Douglass Library, Princess Anne, Maryland. Ms. Smith has an M.S.L.S. from Columbia University, New York, New York. She was a presenter at the Association of Research Directors eighth biennial symposium in Washington, D.C. in October 1989 and also at the 47th Agricultural Workers Conference, Tuskegee University, Tuskegee, Alabama in December 1989.

MARTHA B. STONE is the Director, Information Sciences Division, International Development Research Centre, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada. She has an M.S. in library and information science from Drexel University. Her publications include "Information Systems and Services to Support the World Community" (Canadian Library Journal, 42[4], 1985); and Role of Women in the Development of Science and Technology in the Third World: An IDRC Perspective (Ottawa, Ontario, Canada: IDRC, 1988).

SARAH E. THOMAS is presently Associate Director for Technical Services, National Agricultural Library, Beltsville, Maryland.

BARBARA G. THOMPSON is an Administrative Librarian in the Lending Branch, National Agricultural Library, Beltsville, Maryland. She is chiefly responsible for the administration of document delivery support contracts and the implementation of NAL's automated information system.

WILLIAM H. WIESE is presently Agriculture Bibliographer, Farrell Library, Reference Department, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas. Mr. Wiese received his M.A. in Library and Information Science from the University of Iowa. He is a member of SLA and IAALD and a book reviewer for STARR (Science and Technology Annual Reference Review).

This Page Intentionally Left Blank

This Page Intentionally Left Blank

This Page Intentionally Left Blank

This Page Intentionally Left Blank